DURING a brief visit to the ancient town of Warwick, B. I., recently, our agent extended his trip to the southeastern extremity of the town, to look about among the wonderful improvements which have been made in the appearance of Warwick Neck during a comparatively brief period, and while con versing on the subject with Colonel Benjamin S HAZARD, the popular proprietor of the Warwick Neck Hotel, he learned that the greater part of the andsome summer residences had been erected inside of a dozen years; and he also learned that Col. Hazard had been a great sufferer from a chronic or retention of the urine, which was so very severe at times as to disable him for his accustomed work, and even confine him to the bed, when a surgeon's assistance would be required to relieve him. He was being doctored a large part of the time, but could get no permanent relief. At times his sufferings were terrible from sharp, cutting pains through the Kidneys and Bladder; and he had suffered so long getting well again, especially as the doctor stated that it was doubtful if a man of his age, with such a complicated disease of long standing, could be cured. But last summer, when he was suffering intensely from one of these attacks, a gentleman who was from one of these attacks, a gentleman who was boarding at his hotel urged and persuaded him to try a bottle of Hunt's Remedy, as he had known of some wonderful cures effected by it.

The trial of Richards. who murdered Nichols in Auburn on the 11th of last month, has now begun.

Fatal Fall—An Old Suit. Mr. Hazard says he had no faith in it, but con sented reluciantly to try it; and after taking it only two days, the intense pains and aches had disappeared, and he commenced to gain strength rapidly, and in less than a week was attending to his accustomed work, and has never had a return of the pains. Mr. Hazard is now over 70 years of age, and known on the 25th of Nov., 1882, when our agent met him, although it was a very cold and blustering day, he was in the field with his team at work pulling and loading turnips, as hale and hearty a man as you could wish for, whereas last August he was unable to stand up to oversee the work then going on in this same field.

THE STORY OF A BREAM.

Get money honestly if you can, but get money," was the foolish father's advice to his son. Get money, if you can honestly, makes but a slight alteration in the order of the words, but varies the sentiment considerably. There is no harm in making money. It answereth sli things. Used rightly it is a power for good, and there is money enough in the world to form a lever by which the mass of humani y could be lifted, to a certain extent, out of its depths of sorrow and despair. Money we must have, for money makes the mare go. Some can make money who have no faculty for saving. Would you save, you must know how to deny those who would borrow and never repay, as well as those who beg simply because they are too lazy to work. There are men who never want to see you except to ask the favor of a loan. They will ask for just one word with you, and that one word is sure to be money.

An impecunious fellow met a rich acquaintance, and not liking to ask directly for a loan, said: "Friend Smith, if you had ten dollars in your pocket and I was to sak you for the loan of five, how many would remain in your pocket?" "Ten dollars, to be sure," replied the rich man, without a moment's hesitation. He had gumption, and knew too much to part with his money by any such rule of sub-

I ight will dawn, we said, and so it will, light of hope and help. Light is what a certain individual wanted. Mr. Jones we will call him. He was very sick. Consumption had fastened its fangs upon him. He had long neglected catarrh, and laughed at the idea of taking anything for it when advised to do so, and so went from had to worse. His lungs became diseased, a hacking, church-yard cough racked him almost to pieces, and he was fast wasting away. A mere shadow of his former self, he scarcely slept at all at night, or slept only to dresm horrible dreams. Talk of nightmare! A whole circus troups, horses and all, seemed make his bed the arena of their wild performances. In this case money did not make he mare go, for he spent a deal of money or doctors and physics and was nothing bettered. He ate little, and was fast going down to an untimely grave, leaving his wife a widow and his four bright children orphane, when, lo! one eventful night he dreamed for once a Death, the black-visaged monster, had until then stared him in the face, but the dream brought him hope. He saw a bright, white-robed augel in his dream, who said, "1 come to bring good news. We have the statement of President E. L. Brown, of the American Humane Association, that the cruelty practiced in the cattle business is of a character and extent that is a burning reproach to Americans as a civilized people. We may safely take the statements of gentlemen officially situated as is Mr. Brown with some charitable allowance, because his very position tends to lead him to extreme views. The Dynamite Conspirators.

LONDON, April 19th,-Norman, Daltor, Wilson, Dr. Gallagher, Bernard Gallagher, men arrested and charged with being concerned in the dynamite conspiracy, were again brought up in the Bow-street Police Court this morning. On the prisoners being arraigned in the Court-room it was announced that Norman had turned informer. The rest treason and felony. Norman testified that his real name was William Joseph Lynch, born of Irish parents in the State of New York. He swore he worked in October last at a coachbuilder's in Brooklyn. At that time he joined a secret society in New York, the chiest of which was to fee Irelyd by the object of which was to free Ireland by force. The members were not known to each other by names. Members were selected to go on a mission. He was sent to Dr. Thomas Gallagher, who lived at Greenpoint, L. I., Gallagher told him he was to go to London, Boston, April 19th.—In the investigation of the Tewksbury Almshouse to-day, Mrs. Gallagher gave him $50 and told him to take steerage passage on the steamer Spain, under the name of Norman. Gallagher viewed the Houses of Parliament and said, "They will make a great crash when they come down." At this point Gallagher shouted out from the dock, "You are an infamous liar." Lynch repeated the state-ments of Gallagher as to what destruction was to be wreught. He said he inferred from the talk of his co-conspirator that O'Donavan Rossa was in the scheme. Rossa was referred to as "the old man." Lynch testified that he went to Birmingham to see Whitehead at Gallagher's request, for some material. Gallagher gave him money to buy a presentable trunk, in which to put the stuff he was to get from Whitehead. Whitehead put him in the way of get-ting an India-rubber bag. A branch is also to be constructed from Aptos to a large tract of redwood timber.

An old man named Schaumlofel, who was formerly about Sacramento, was arrested in Woodland this week upon several charges of exposure of person before small girls. He was finally permitted to leave town without trial, upon promise that he would never re-turn. This was done by the authorities, rather than have the children appear in Court to give testimony against him.

It is understood that the members of the Metropolitan Club have invited Dr. Harkness to entertain them in an informal way this evening at the club rooms with some remarks upon the wonderful footprints recently discovered near the State Prison in Nevada It is not to be a lecture, but merely a conversational discussion of this remarkable disof the club will invite friends to be present as guests or visitors.

The young man was taken on trial yester day "to help out." He stood a dripping umbrella in the corner, sat down opposite the city editor and began his first item: "April city editor and began his first item: "April showers have come to refresh the eager soil; spring weeps for joy upon the soft bosom of Mother Earth; the springing grain responsive to the pearly tears imprisons the heavenly balm in fragile chalice and tender cup—"He was stopped right there, paid a week's salary, and advised to apply for a position on a Sunday morning paper, printed Saturday night.

CHIPS FROM MILE POSTS. The Burial of the Dane.

Blue Guif all around us, Blue sky overhead— Blue sky overhead— fuster all on the quarter, We must bury the dead! It is but a Danish sailor, Rugged of front and form;

A common son of the forecastle Grizzled with sun and storm. His name, and the strand he hailed from, We know—and there's nothing more! But perhaps his mother is waiting On the lonely island of Fohr.

Still, as he lay there dying, Reason drifting awreck, 'Tis my watch," he would mutter, "I must go upon deck!"

Ay, on deck—by the foremast!—
But watch and lookout are done;
The Union-Jack laid o'er him,
How quiet he lies in the sun!

Slow the ponderous engine, Stay the hurrying shaft; Let the roll of the ocean Cradle our giant craft— Gather around the grating, Carry your messmate aft!

Stand in order, and listen

To the holiest page of prayer! Let every foot be quiet, Every head be bare— The soft trade wind is lifting A hundred locks of hair Our captain reads the service,

(A little spray on his cheeks),
The grand old words of burial,
And the trust a true heart seeks—
"We therefore commit his body
To the deep"—and, as he speaks, Launched from the weather railing, Swift as the eye can mark, The ghastly, shotted hammock

Flunges, away from the shark, Down, a thousand fathoms, Down into the dark! A thousand summers and winters

A thousand summers and winters
The stormy Gulf shall roll
High o'er his canvas coffin—
But, silence to doubt and dole!
There's a quiet harbor somewhere
For the poor a-weary soul.

Speed the threess shart:
Loose to'gallant and topsail,
The breeze is fair abaft!
Blue sa all around us,
Blue sky bright o'erhead—
Every man to his duty!
We have buried our dead. - Henry Howard Brownell. The army of the King of the Hawaiian
